2. ANSWERS TO SUPPLEMENTAL ACTIVITY

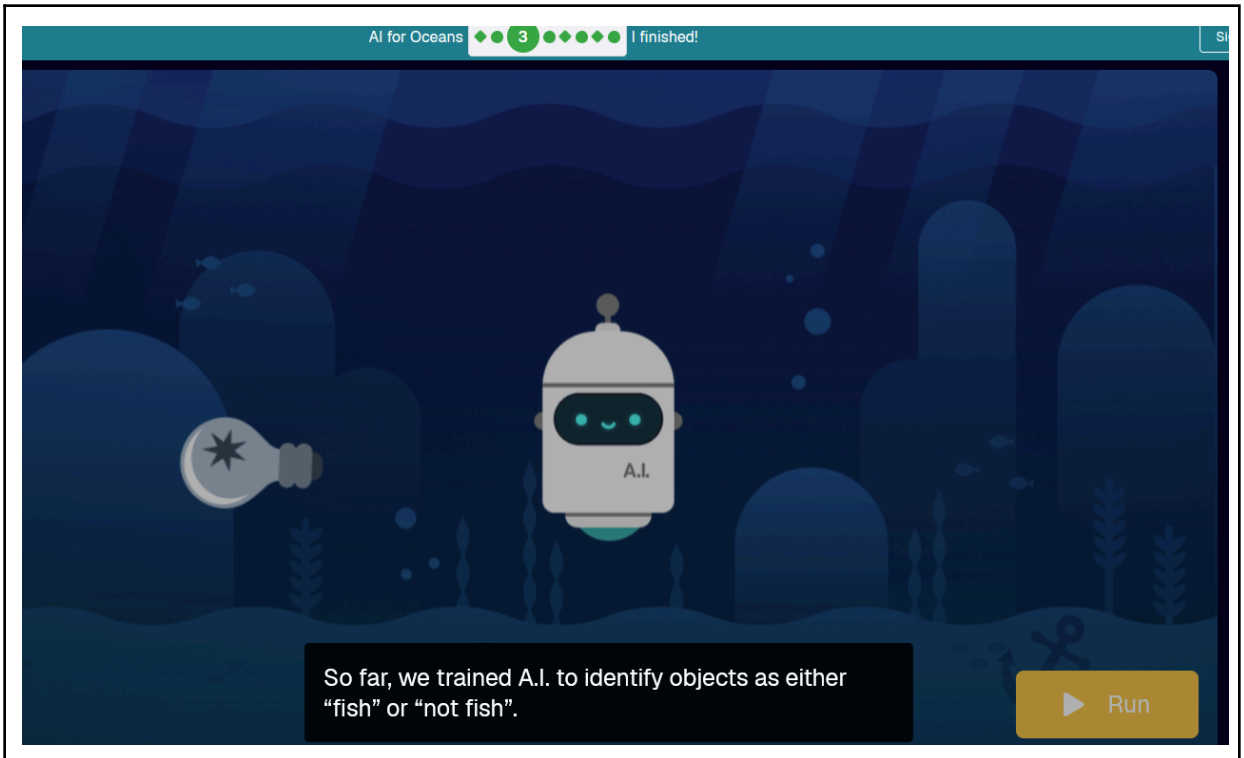

- AI for Oceans via Code.orgLinks to an external site.
- Complete all required exercises
- Document and add your observation per step
- Provide the Certificate of Completion

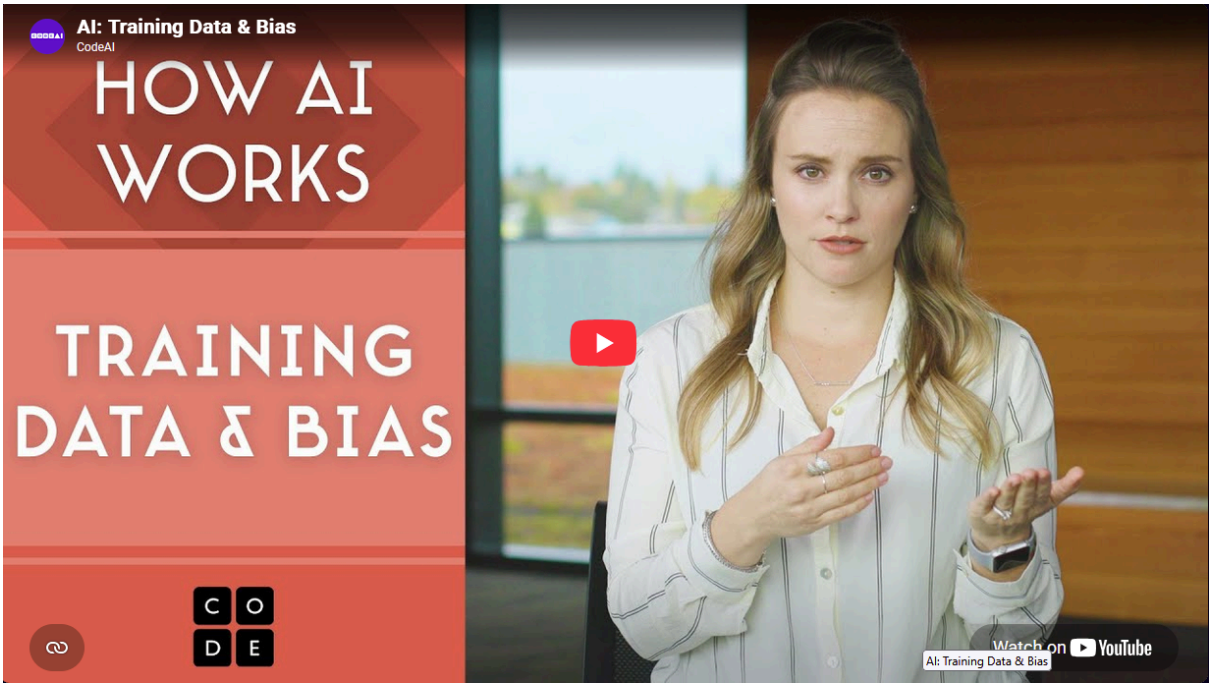

1. The video discussed how Machine learning actually applied is that they actually learn from experience. Additionally, it explained Artificial Intelligence (AI), where the big idea of making computers act smart like humans.Also, An artificial intelligence starts with AI not knowing yet what is the necessary information to learn. Then you will need to train the AI, programming and training AI so AI learns from your choices; if you make a wrong choice, AI will repeat your mistakes. Take note, the more you add data to AI, the more it learns.

2. This is where you will then run the AI to see if it recognizes the object, and it will analyze it based on its training

3 and 4. When it comes to training AI, it is important that we should consider some factors, like for example there are animals that belong to water but are not recognized as fish. Also, AI only learns from what you teach it, so the more training data you add, the more it learns.

5. It is important to put high quality data. In collecting data it actually starts with us people on how we will teach the AI, when training an AI it takes millions or billions of data. An idea that was shared is the “human bias” where regardless how much information you put in AI there will still be inaccurate flaws due to our own perscpective.

6. Always consider some factors when training an AI

7. AI and machine learning can affect every part of our society because it allows us to be more efficient, and adapt to the new things that are happening.

8. This is where the part that human bias are very crucial when training a computer(AI)

Certificate of Completion

Conclusion:

In conclusion, the better the data you provide, the better the computer will learn.
